

eNOTIS features

2009-06-22

Login

- An authorized user should be able to login
- An authorized user with typos should get a helpful message
- An unauthorized user should get a helpful message
- A logged in user can logout

Manage subjects

- A coordinator can add a subject that can be located in the medical record
 - can add a subject that can not be located in the medical record
 - can view the synced/not synced with medical record status
 - can add an event for a new subject
 - can add an event for an existing subject
 - can remove an event for an existing subject
 - can remove a subject by deleting all involvement events
 - can view the event history on a subject
 - can view data on a user they entered (user data) that has been synced with medical record (EDW)
 - can upload a subject list from a file to the study
 - can search for a subject on their studies (with mrn, name)
 - can search but cannot find a subject not on their studies

Manage studies

- A random user can search for studies (with study id or keyword in title/short title)
 - can view overview details on a study, including IRB status
 - cannot see study menu
 - can view contact information for other users (click on name, get a popup)
- A coordinator can view all details on their studies (all tabs on study menu)
 - can view all personnel that have access on a study
 - can view all subjects they have access to on a study
 - can view all accrual information on a study
 - can view links to documents they have access to on a study
 - can view all imports made to a study they have access to